

2024-2029

Research Program

Rights, freedoms and principles in the Aruban context

What do we research?

Our research focuses on fundamental freedoms and rights, specifically in the Aruban democratic society. We look into topics like legal certainty, non-discrimination, digitalization, equality, and consumer protection. We're also exploring Aruba's autonomous position within the Kingdom and the ways it could potentially be strengthened.

Our focus areas

- 1 How do fundamental rights and freedoms protect citizens in their relationships with the State, the Kingdom, and internationally, as well as in private legal relationships?
- 2 How can good governance be strengthened within Aruba's democracy governed by the rule of law?
- 3 What impact does the history of slavery and colonialism have on current relationships, legal development, and society within the Kingdom, with regard to equality and justice?

Interested?

For more information, you can view the full research program by scanning the QR code. We are eager to collaborate with partners. If you are interested in cooperation, a specific research assignment, or would like to learn more about our program and the expertise of our staff, please contact us at dean-of-law@ua.aw.

Faculty of Law

SCAN ME!

ua.aw

University of Aruba